NORFOLK, 8; DANVILLE, 4. A Slaughter of Pitchers in a Very · Short Game, (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., May 16.—There was a slaughter of pitchers in the game between the Tercentennials and Tobacconists this afternoon, won by Norfolk 8 to 4, two of the visitors and one of the local's what men being merchessly hammered, and it all happened in six and a half in-nings.

nings.

There was no scoring and little hitting done until the fourth inning, when Darville opened up on Pitcher Otoy, batting the ball for four hits and getting as many runs, but there Danville stopped, Leonard relieved Otey in the box. In the same inning, the lacals also commenced batting heavily, and they kept it up until the middle of the sixth inning, when the game was called to let Danville catch a train.

Everybody hit the ball. McDonald, who had started to pitch for the visitors was taken out of the box on account of a lame arm, and Rickard put in. Rickard did very well until the bombardment commenced. He retired at the end of fifth and Shortstop Blerman was brought in to pitch and Pitcher Rickard was converted into a back-stop. Four runs were made off the combination.

The visitors falling to score in their half of the sixth, the game ended. Score: DANVILLE.

LYNCHBURG WINS.

Moser's Pitching Proved to Be Too Tricky for the Truckers. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LYNCHBURG, VA., May 16.-The Shoe LYNCHBURG, VA., May 18.—The Shoemakers struck their form again this afternoon, and won easily from the Truckers in the shortest and easily the best game seen on the local diamond during the season. Not an error marred the work of the locals, and the team work was that of precision. Not a Trucker got so far as third, and up to the ninth linning no one got as far us second, only five reaching first in the whole game, four of these being thrown out on the bases. The score was 4 to 0.

The feature of the game, aside from the masterly pitching of Moser and the all-round good work of both of the teams, was the heavy stick work by Darlager. Two clean home runs and a hard drive for a single and a close decision on a bunt was his record out of four times at bat. Still, this did not take the ginger out of the Truckers, because they played a steady game throughout, thoir only stumbling block being Ti was a game that would win against the term and the Truckers, person makers struck their form again this af-any team, and the Truckers played hard to pull it out of the fire and make it three straight. The playing of the Shoe-makers could hardly be recognized as the same team that went down before Ports-mouth on Monday and Tuesday, The LYNCHBURG. R. H.,O. T. E score:

They Cannot Play Ball-Remarkable Game Yesterday

Afternoon.

SCOREKEEPER'S HARD LUCK

Place-Richmond, Virginia. Scene-A large field with four bags and a piece of rubber placed on it.

The play opens with nine chorus gentle-

The play opens with nine chorus gentiamen before the footlights. Behind the scenes are seen nine other men.

Eenter one Richard Duke, the umpire. He struts across the stage to the box and takes up a position behind a man wno was called Brill. Brill twists his sides and throws the ball. It goes half way over the rubber. The ball would have gone the other part of the way if a bat hadn't wiggled. But the bat wiggles.

It is all off from thenceforth.

Barton goes in to twirl. He couldn't see the plate. Clark got spiked and went to the bad. Kent believes that he can see a plate, but forgets it's not supper time.

Only five men were released from the batter's box after he started the business of doubling himself up in a cute little kirdl and making his bow to the audience. Hal Clements and Galway Herbert, the leading man, and the Henglishman, respectively, jumped out on the grandstand and started to coach. That was the beginning of the end, it was all off afterwards, for Kent had resigned his job at short and stuck his toe on the siab. He pitched a ball that dropped to the ground after it had gone its pushed distance. And his control was all right. The only thing about him was he couldn't move the catcher and the home plate around to suit his peculiar twisters. The quintette of Richmond Brownles walked to the first sack, stole the second, the third and the fourth sacks and then asked to be given cridit in the official score for good base running.

Couldn't Touch Sphere.

Couldn't Touch Sphere.

But anyway there was a game of ball at Boad Street Park. The Elife Fay Bjou company, which closed here this week, was to have gone against Albert Anthony's Brownies. Things went along very nicely until the Broad Street Park was reached. Then the game started.

There were several who forgot it was Wednesday and not Thursday and journoyed out to see a game of ball. They looked at a baseball and that was all. Hulpher pitched for the Brownies, and he did let Clark and Fay get a single each in the fourth linnins. But neither one put his tootsle-wootsle on the rubber.

Jimmie had his drop breaking and even when he wanted them to hit it they wouldn't.

Master Brill, of the Bijou Company, did the twirling at the first but he was soon released for incompetency and Juvanile Kent took his place on the slab.
Mr. Kent was a good ball player when he was woung. He has forgotten the air. Reint was a good bar payer with he was woung. He has forgotten the game.

When the sixth inning was just ending and the Brownies were chalking up the thirty-ninth run, the scorekeeper went out to see his sick step-uncle and from this time on all is a blank.

The Brownies had fourteen men to wiggle the willow in the third inning and cleven of these fourteen spiked the plate. Ten more came over in the following inning and after this everybody scored. Umpire Richard Duke was taken out of the box and put on third base and Mister Bender called balls and strikes. Mister Duke did the Hamilton stunt at third base. It was great and fancy and in omitting the box score, charity is shown to all of Elfie Fay's aggregation of ballologists.
